

NATIVE PODCAST (THRILLER / SCIENCE-FICTION)
10 ÉPISODES OF 10 TO 20MIN (IN FRENCH)

Synopsis: Have you ever felt you weren't living the life you were meant to?

For the past few months, Alicia (32) has been reminiscing about moments she never actually experienced. To make sense of them, the young woman begins an investigation in the form of a podcast, far from imagining that her discoveries will call into question everything she thought she knew about her past... and our reality.

ALTÉRÉE

Beginning as a personal investigation podcast, Altérée is first and foremost the story of Alicia, a mixed-race lesbian in the midst of an identity crisis. The first episodes take listeners on board with a realistic, intimate tone akin to a documentary podcast, alternating between first-person narration and moments recorded on the spot (interviews, telephone extracts, stolen discussions...). The events recounted will thus belong to the same temporality as our own, as if Alicia were editing and uploading her episodes as she went along. Tackling a number of themes linked to identity (heredity, determinism, memories, etc.), Altérée questions ourselves and our own life choices.

But the podcast doesn't stop there. As its heroine's discoveries unfold, Altérée gradually transforms into a breathless thriller, before gradually crossing over into science fiction in a fluid, realistic way.

To accompany us in this mix of genres and its daydream atmosphere, Altérée boasts a rich sound universe, thanks in particular to an original soundtrack composed entirely for the occasion.

Finally, to reinforce the story while creating a real community, the gradual publication of episodes will be accompanied by transmedia elements, including Alicia's Instagram account, on which the character will post illustrations of her memories and photos from her investigation, among other things. Further blurring the line between fiction and reality, the description of each episode will include references to articles that provide more in-depth information on the subjects covered.
